Why is Crossroad Successful?

by H. David Schuringa

When people asked me about the reasons for the success of CBI, I had always answered that God was richly blessing the incredible work of our volunteers, staff and board. Today, I know that this is only part of the truth. I've recently learned a more complete answer to the question.

A pastor-friend of mine from Kalamazoo recommended the book Oneness Embraced by Dr. Tony Evans. I devoured it. The thesis of Evans' book is that to accomplish the mission to which God has called the church, we need to follow God's kingdom agenda.

What is God's kingdom agenda? According to Evans, the agenda contains two vital components needed to carry out the Great Commission to make disciples of the nations.

First, the church needs to work together. That means we must tear down our silos and learn how to work across all denominational lines. This doesn't imply that we should abandon our denominational distinctives. But we need to find ways to work together, because only together can the mission of the church be accomplished. No church can do it alone (cf. 1 Corinthians 12:21-22).

Second, along similar lines, the church must tear down all ethnic barriers, working toward complete racial reconciliation. Each nation, tribe and tongue has vital input and an important role to play in accomplishing the Great Commission. Until we destroy all barriers that hinder diversity, the church will never experience the divine, explosive power it needs to fulfill its mission (cf. Acts 2:5; Revelation 5:9-10).

And then I looked at Crossroad Bible Institute. Yes, our volunteers, staff and board are Spirit-filled, godly women and men with whom I am so blessed to be serving.

But there's much more going on here than that!

First of all, the over 5,000 Crossroad volunteers involved in hands-on ministry represent every denomination imaginable. This month we honor CBI Instructors. Name a church—Baptist, Reformed, Lutheran, Episcopal, Roman Catholic, Pentecostal, Mennonite, Presbyterian, Charismatic, Independent, Methodist, to name just a few—and you will find Crossroad Instructors there.

Furthermore, Instructors span the ethnic spectrum, with Latinos, Asians, African Americans and Anglos of every stripe represented. In addition, indigenous Instructors are found on all six livable continents around the globe and include Africans, North and South Americans, Asians, Europeans and believers in the South Pacific.

You see it? Unbeknownst to me, Crossroad's success results from God blessing the fact that, empowered by His Spirit, CBI is serving according to His kingdom agenda! After all, how else could the church even begin to accomplish the mission of making disciples in the prisons and jails?

Crossroad is succeeding due to God's abundant grace and mercy in allowing us to play a role in fulfilling His kingdom agenda on earth. Instructors, we thank you for so faithfully taking part in expanding God's kingdom. God is blessing your ministry immensely. And we've only just begun!

Instructors, remind your students that CBI will help them with reentry!

The Crossroad Reentry Program helps returning citizens locate housing, employment and a church home in the area of their release. Contact CBI to learn more.

Please ask your church in the US to take a special offering for CBI this Thanksgiving.

Those Who Bring Good News

by Stacy Ladenburger

Stacy serves as an Associate Editor in The Center for Advanced Studies at CBI

Crossroad Bible Institute Instructors represent an array of ages, nationalities, denominations and experiences. Yet they share a deep concern for God's people in prison and, together, embrace CBI's commitment to disciple these men and women and prepare them for reentry. This month, we acknowledge the diverse stories of those who serve with us.

When Eileen, an Instructor in California, heard about CBI in 1999, her response was simple and straightforward. She thought, "I can do that! I like to write letters." These many years later, she reflects, "I've learned how much paying attention to those who are very lonely means to them."

Dottie, a retired teacher and principal who instructs students in all three tiers, is quick to point out the similarities that connect her to her students: "Walking with Jesus is important to everyone. We are all dependent upon the grace of God in our lives." She is grateful that she can serve from her home and could even continue while recovering from breast cancer several years ago.

Native Spanish-speakers and those with a specific devotion to the US Hispanic population find a niche with Crossroad as well. One Instructor who requested anonymity developed his passion through decades of ministry in Bolivia with his wife. He comments, "We feel it a real privilege to serve the Lord in this way."

As they joyfully serve, Instructors also experience transformation. Vicky is an Australian Instructor and volunteer. She recalls a childhood fear of escaped prisoners like those in the books she read. "Yet now," she explains, "I have great love in my heart for those in the darkness of the prisons. I have learned to love those I once feared." A longtime Instructor in Texas, John, says of his students, "I have been blessed to correspond with some strong, deeply faithful Christians. They have strengthened my faith. I can only imagine the impact they are having upon those around them."

CBI Singapore Instructor Philomena summarizes the reflections that first prompted her involvement: "I felt that inmates should be given the chance to know God, as many people will not associate with these marginalized people. I asked, 'Who then will reach out to them, if we don't?'"

Indeed, Paul ponders the same question in Romans 10:14: "How can they believe in the one of whom they have not heard? And how can they hear without someone preaching to them?"

With willing hearts, over 5,000 men and women around the globe have joined with CBI to reach out in response to this call. Instructors, as we thank you, we echo again the words of Romans 10: "How beautiful are the feet of those who bring good news!"

Fulfilling the Great Commission by Karen Loyd

Instructors, this month we honor you for your faithful service!

In this busy world of endless responsibilities, the Great Commission solicits our participation in a seemingly impossible task – that of reaching the nations with the Gospel. Yet our Father never asks us to do anything without equipping us to answer His call.

As the Lord showers you with His grace and fills you with His power, you are more than able to disciple incarcerated people worldwide. When your students read your heartfelt letters, they see Christ in you!

Though we greatly appreciate every Instructor, we specifically congratulate those celebrating five, ten, fifteen and twenty or more years of serving with CBI.

I love Crossroad; it is perfect for me. I am able to do it from home on my day off, and I write a personal letter to each student, and I pray for them. I look forward to it each week, and I listen to the radio broadcast while I am working on it.

CHRISTMAS SEND-A-CARD PROGRAM

The Christmas season can be one of the most difficult times of the year for those in prison. For these men and women, alone and far from home, it often provokes depression rather than joy. By sending every CBI student a card, Crossroad's Send-A-Card Program offers them the hope of Christ at Christmas.

Instructions

- Select an English or Spanish Christmas card.
- Write a greeting if you wish. CBI will personalize the card with a student's name.
- Sign only your first name or "A brother/sister in Christ."
- Place the card in its blank envelope, but do not seal.
- Mail all cards and envelopes to CBI between now and November 7.

Mailing guidelines

- Each card must fit into a 6 x 9 envelope.
- Do not include cards or envelopes with foil, stickers, glitter, glue, pop-up parts or paint, and do not send homemade layered cards.
- Do not put postage stamps on the envelopes.
- Do not send unsigned cards.

Cards that do not comply with these guidelines cannot be used because most facilities will not accept them.

Campaign for Justice Names Executive Director

LANSING—Peter Cunningham has been named the new executive director of the Michigan Campaign for Justice, a nonprofit dedicated to improving the state's failing public defense system. Cunningham worked previously for the Michigan House of Representatives and brings to the Campaign his wealth of legislative experience as well fresh enthusiasm and strong leadership.

Currently, the Campaign is educating and informing the conversation of the governor-appointed commission charged with developing recommendations for a revised public defense system. Crossroad Bible Institute is a member of the Campaign for Justice Coalition, and Dr. Schuringa serves on the organization's board of directors.

Crossroad Inmate Art Gallery Expands

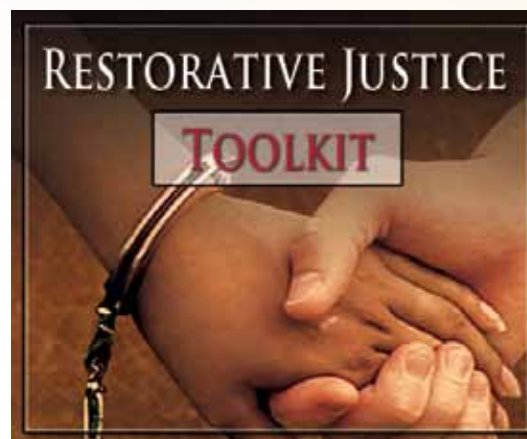

GRAND RAPIDS—CBI is pleased to announce the expansion of the Crossroad Inmate Art Gallery, located at its headquarters in Grand Rapids, Michigan. The two-year-old gallery has been doubled in size and now holds over seventy pieces of artwork, all of them created by CBI students. Prints of five of the pieces are available for purchase at the gallery or through CBI's online store.

Crossroad hosts tours for church, school and community groups, providing a coffee bar, an inmate art presentation, a tour of the lesson processing center and viewing of the expanded gallery. Contact CBI to schedule a visit for your group or to learn more!

Restorative Justice Toolkit Now Available

GRAND RAPIDS—As Restorative Justice Week approaches, Crossroad has once again made its free Restorative Justice Toolkit available. Restorative Justice Week, which takes place November 13-19 this year, educates and spurs action worldwide in regard to this important issue. CBI's toolkit includes worship resources, a book study, helpful links and a list of ministry representatives available for speaking or preaching in churches. The toolkit aims to equip churches, small groups and individuals to recognize Restorative Justice Week through reflection on the biblical call to justice. Visit the CBI website to access the free materials.
